Lee & Taylay. We would call the attention of our readers o the advertisement of those gentlemen to be found in snother column. As business men, and men of reliability, we think their establishment equal, if not superior to any house in Lynchburg, therefore we would advice our merchants, farmers, and produce dealers generally, who have shipments to make, to give them a trial, and we are of the comion that they will be well satisfied with the result. Address LEE & TAYLOR, Noc105 Main St

Lynchburg, Va.

Look out for Burglars. We are informed by Mr. John E. Williams of this place, that on Thursday night of last week his house was entered; through the window of his sitting room. The rascal after having moved a water-barrel some distance, get in at the window without difficulty, after having opened the shutter, as the sash was already hoisted. It is supposed by Mr. Williams that he went through the sitting room to the entry and unbolted the passage door, (which was fatened upon the inside) before proceeding up stairs where the family slept, Mrs. Williams was awoke by some one having hold of, or running their hand under her pillow, but supposing it to be her husband called to him, who answered upon the opposite side of the bed, which very much alarmed her, when she sprang up, calling on Mr. Williams at the same time to get up as there was some person in the room. When she gave the alarm they saw some one pass through the room and out of the door, heard them go down stairs with a very light step, and out of the door, and upon going down gtairs found the door standing open. It was not light enough for them to discern whether the indictfull was white or black, or what kind of clothing was worn. It is supposed the object was money, as

Mr. Williams was paying out a considerable amount for wheat that day, at the Depot and also upon the street-nothing however was missing he the light-fingered-gentleman's plan seems to have been thwarted by the timely awaking of Mrs. Williams.

We would advise our citizens to keep their windows and doors fastened and a sharp look out for such scoundrels, always have a good shot-gun near at hand, and if they should pay you a visit, give them a good load of buckshot which will prove an excellent antidote for burglary.

Horse Thieves Shot,

We understand that a Mr. Bright, living in the North-western part of this County, a few nights since saw some suspicious looking fellows turking about his premises and taking is for granted they were after no good, he secreted himself in or near the barn and walted the result. In a short time three men came to the barn, and was about to make good his suspicion, when Mr. Bright fired upon the party, shooting one of them through the body, mortally wounding him, and severely wounding another. of Lackey:
